Selectmen's Meeting

JANUARY 8, 1985 - by VIRGINIA ARRAL
NEIGHBOR EXPRESSES CONCERN
OVER CHANGES ON ROUTE 6

"I care about the whole town", Mrs. Duff said.

Several concerns as to the commercial progress on Route 6 between Prospect Road and Aucoot Road were expressed last Tuesday by Mr. and Mrs. John Duff of 88 Marion Road (Route 6).

Mrs. Duff especially was upset with the recent decisions of the Board of Appeals on the Special Permits granted recently to Vic's Auto Body Shop, 94 Marion Road, and to Thomas E. Fredette of 91 Marion Road to operate a small engine repair shop. She said several other neighbors had told her of their concerns and that she was serving as a spokesman for them. She said, "I do not want Route 6 to look like Buzzards Bay."

Mrs. Duff wanted to know why when a thing is illegal you just go to the Appeals Board and they let you go ahead. She noted she would like to have Fredette show proof that the place operated as a business within the last three years.

Lois Ennis, Town Clerk, commented that the spot was the old Weeks' Gas Station and that evidently he (Fredette) convinced the Appeals Board to grant his petition.

Mrs. Duff said she has lived at her address for over 30 years -- now new people come in and get what they want. How is this, she asked. She was commenting on the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lewis, who are operating Vic's Auto Body Shop, and Gary Costa of Lakeville, who has an option to purchase Fredette's property if the permit was granted, are new to the area.

Mrs. Duff expressed a third concern with regard to a rumor on a proposed apartment to be built in the Andrew house on Marion Road. Mrs. Ennis explained the petition will come before the Appeals Board this month to make an apartment on the second floor for one person.

The Duffs took the information under consideration. Mrs. Duff concluded, saying, "I'm not complaining about my house - I care about the whole town -- one of the last nice towns around."

In other business, Selectmen:

MET WITH THE BOARD OF HEALTH to discuss the dumping of stumps and rocks at the sanitary landfill.

Health Board Chairman Daniel Lee said, "We are reaching our capacity at the landfill. We recommend no stumps, tires or rocks be dumped for the time being." He added that there are a good many stumps and rocks coming from the Industrial Park construction.

Lee asked if the Selectmen felt there is an increase in common refuse handlers in Mattapoisett. He said that at the present time Mattapoisett is the only town in the area that accepts those materials. At the present time there is no charge to dump - only the purchase at the Town Hall of a sticker at a cost of $5.00 for a truck 5000 pounds or over. Selectmen didn't feel there had been any increase in applications for permits.

Health Board member John Bowman expressed the opinion that if we don't accept these materials those persons doing the dumping will leave their materials in private pits or off Wolf Island Road somewhere.

There will be a short business meeting at 7:30 p.m. followed by a very interesting presentation by Park Ranger Mario DiGregorio who will speak on the Cape Cod Canal from the time of the original concept to the present. This talk is accompanied by fascinating old pictures and slides showing the enormous amount of hand labor and ancient machines which started the project.

The meeting will be held in the Museum which is over the Elizabeth Taber Library on Spring Street. There is a handicapped access complete with elevator.

There is no charge for this event and all are welcome.

Sunday, January 27th, is a special day for the Marion Natural History Society. At 3 p.m. a Wine & Cheese Party will be held to celebrate the completion of two exhibits in the newly renovated Museum: the mineral display, "Lots of Quartz", and the Geological Time Line. The two exhibits, which are finished, were done under the direction of George Barden, a knowledgeable amateur in the field of minerals and fossils and Museum Curator of Minerals & Fossils. A list of Museum members who assisted in the project will be shown at the Party. All workers volunteered their time and skills to the Museum.

AT FORMER TRIPP SCHOOL IN FAIRHAVEN

Students from the Electrical Department at Old Colony Regional Vocational Technical High School are currently involved in a major construction project in Fairhaven. The former Job C. Tripp elementary school is being transformed into a state-funded vocational skills training center for young adults with developmental disabilities.

Under the supervision of instructor Franklin Rothwell, the Old Colony students are upgrading the building's existing wiring to current standards. This includes installing 200-amp three-phase service, outside security lighting, and remodeling workshops to make them accessible to persons with disabilities.

Sophomore, junior and senior students have been working on the project, which is expected to be completed in February. According to Rothwell, the size and nature of the job make it a significant learning experience

CHIC PRODUCTION OF CHRISTIE'S "TOWARDS ZERO"

Norwell: The new J. Arnold Nickerson Theatre is presenting a svelte and professional showcase in Agatha Christie's less familiar, thoroughly suspenseful TOWARDS ZERO with a group of stellar performances and very speedy direction by Grey Johnson. The performance moves so swiftly that there are times it feels more like watching the nicely stylized film version of And Then There Were None.

Top notch suspects include Linda Peterson as the neurasthenic first wife of dapper, devil may care Neville Strange (Robert Riley). Both performances are charismatic. Like a lean Anglican Barry Fitzgerald, Niels Miller, who appeared with Gateway Players in Long Day's Journey Into Night, catches both humor and intelligence as the elder lawyer, Treeves. Gentle ladies in audience were taken by the eloquence of Mr. Miller's speech. Zesty spunk and petulant humor comes out in Linda Cameron's interpretation of the second Mrs. (Kay) Strange.

Among the principal supporting players, M. Linda Robinson creates just the correct tense uneasiness as the humble secretary to Pat Pellow's sardonic and arrogant Lady Tressilian. Robert Bouffier adds a touch of fey meanness and John Adair a mellow eeriness to complete Dame Christie's gallery of possible murderers. Paul O'Brien's Inspector initially lacked the ensemble feeling, but toned down and worked in satisfactorily as he became less self-conscious of his uniqueness.

Johnson's direction caught the frenetic pace of the 1920's excellently. Add Don Soule's opulent drawing room set and Craig Sonnenberg's brightly striking costumes and the Nickerson Theatre has a delightful show which deserves an even longer run. It succeeds immensely in removing one for a couple of hours from daily rituals and puts us into the mayhem of Agatha Christie's logical

daVinci Inventions Exhibit

IBM TOURING EXHIBITION

The inventive genius and foresight of Leonardo da Vinci, who conceived of the flying machine and other developments that did not take practical form until modern times, is depicted in an exhibition at the Children's Museum in South Dartmouth.

The exhibition of the 15th Century artist-scientist's work, on loan from the IBM Corporation, includes 22 models built from Leonardo's scientific and technical drawings. It will remain through February 20th.

Models in the show include both practical and theoretical devices. Among them are a paddle-wheel ship, an idea that was not successfully developed until the advent of steam power in the 19th Century; a theoretical gear system that produced three speeds of rotation, as in the modern automobile transmission; and a device for determining the tensile strength of wire; information essential to the engineer five centuries ago, as it is today.

Leonardo was fascinated with the possibility of human flight, and devised many schemes for flying, including ornithopters--whose principal support and propulsion comes from flapping wings. A model of an ornithopter in the show follows an early design calling for lattice-like wooden framework, two movable wings, a series of ropes and pulleys and a windlass. This was to be operated by the flyer, lying prone in the framework.

Although Leonardo considered war "a bestial madness", he was one of the leading military engineers of his time, and made innumerable sketches for fortifications and weapons. Models in the show includes an armored tank, in which he foresaw a type of vehicle not extensively used until World War I, and a scaling ladder that resembles modern fire-fighting apparatus, but which Leonardo designed for storming the wall of an enemy fortress.

As a scientist and engineer, Leonardo was always concerned with accuracy and measurement, and the show includes models of his designs for a hygrometer for measuring humidity, an anemometer for measuring wind velocity, and an inclinometer for determining the degree of a slope.

The first set of models of Leonardo's work constructed in contemporary times was built in 1938 for an exhibition in Milan, Italy. It traveled briefly, and during World War

Another group of models, built in the United States after the war, was acquired by IBM in 1951, and incorporated into the company's touring exhibition program. The models are displayed with panels of explanatory material and sketches reproduced from Leonardo's notebooks.

Five of these exhibitions are now traveling, on loan to museums, colleges and public libraries. Last year IBM's touring exhibitions were seen in more than 60 cities throughout the United States.

Because of the close proximity to the campsite, College of the Atlantic and the Jackson Laboratory, both located in Bar Harbor, will be visited. The College is a young institution with a strong Human Ecology Program. Students undertake courses in Education and Interpretation, and study marine and upland ecosystems emphasizing the human influence on those systems. Staff at the Jackson Laboratory provide a tour through their biomedical research facility and explain the importance of genetic research in the advancement of human health and medicine.

L. L. Bean, Freeport, Maine, will be a sure stop for the traveling group. Outdoor specialist since 1912, open 24 hours a day 365 days a year, L.L. Bean's wide variety of sporting goods and high quality products are an enjoyable temptation to the outdoor enthusiast.

The tuition includes all costs of instruction, meals, admission fees, transportation, and insurance for each student. A Saturday preparation workshop will also be held prior to departure. Safe Boating

COLOR OF SURVIVAL

Once upon a time, two fishermen drifted for three days on the hull of their overturned boat. The color of their boat's hull was blue, and although they could see Coast Guard helicopters searching for them on the very first day of their ordeal, rescue crewmen aboard the aircraft could not see their blue boat in the midst of the wide, blue ocean. Two days later, a single white seat cushion drifted from under the boat, and it was this lone white cushion, perhaps two square feet in all, which was seen by the rescue helicopter. Tragically, one of the men had already drifted away from the wreck and drowned.

If you're in trouble on the water, and you can't be seen you haven't got a chance.

Make sure that the color of your boat, your life jacket, and your clothes themselves contrast sharply with the water around you. Wear your flotation device and take the required visual signaling devices along, too. Some day that exhausted person clinging to wreckage in the water just might be you.

PBT ADULT THEATRE STAGES "MERELY A MAN"

Priscilla Beach Theatre in Plymouth will present Richard Sullivan's new musical comedy "Merely a Man", starring PBT's Directorial and Artistic staff on Friday and Saturday evenings, January 18, 19, 25, 26 at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are $7.00 per person. For reservations call 224-4888.

"Merely a Man", directed by Playwright Richard Sullivan, is a musical comedy-drama that touches on the concepts of love and marriage. It is about the life of Carlisle Nottingham and his relationship with the three characters in the play. We follow the life of Lauren Hinkely (played by Karen Dolan), Carmin Handel (played by Beverly Brown), and Amanda Ophelis Kennington Nottingham (played by Carol Reimers and Marnie DeMarsh). The bizarre events unfold through their relationships with each other and their man.

This play is presented as a part of PBT's fifteen day tour will include not only the performance of two PBT theatre works ("As You Like It" and "Shaggy in Gay Paris") prepared in workshops scheduled to begin January 31st, but the participation of tour members in visits to: The Royal Shakespeare Theatre in Stratford, The Comedie Francais, B.B.C. TV Center, Scola Cantorem (Paris), Le Louvre Museum, London Puppet Center and The Victoria and Albert Museum.

Last year, the theatre was invited as the U.S. representatives of the "International Drama Festival" held in Darlington, England. There, the PBT Children's Theatre represented America's Drama tradition by presenting an original fairy tale by PBT's Artistic Director, Geronimo Sands, "Cinderella After the Ball". A company of 30 (17 children and 13 adults), residents of Massachusetts, were graciously greeted and hosted by English families living in Durham County. PBT's Executive Director Anne Joelle states in reflecting upon the highlights of last year's tour, "Our most incredible realization was that Europe's cultural resources are so rich and so accessible to us in the 80's. We were in London in less hours than it might take a person to travel by train to Chicago from Boston. With the continued enthusiasm of our students we will offer the Tour Program bi-annually (fall and spring)."

BLACK HISTORY MONTH IN FEBRUARY

The Boston Children's Museum again joins other area groups in the national celebration of Black History Month with a series of exciting and educational workshops, demonstrations, performances, films and other activities featuring many of Boston's Black artists and educators.

The fun begins on Friday, February 1, as Dana Chandler leads visitors in making a mural, 6-9 p.m. (fee, $1., although admission to the Museum is free during that time). Mr. Chandler is one of five members of the African-American Masters Artist in Residence Program (AAMARP) at Northeastern University. That evening visitors also can cook, taste and take home some delicious recipes from traditional African, Caribbean and African cultures.

And this is just the beginning of a long list of events happening daily.

A special exhibit during the month, "Is this Africa?", will encourage visitors to learn more about the land and people of this continent by guessing about a series of "mystery" photographs. In addition, "Wireworks" shows inventive handmade toys made from wire by children of southern Africa, a photographic exhibit looks at African-Americans from the 1890's to present.

Other highlights during the month include:

Little Angels Without Wings, the Youth Choir of the St. Paul's African Methodist Episcopal Church, will perform songs from the Black Christian tradition - Saturday, February 2, 1 to 2 p.m.

Bamidele Osumarea and Sa Davis will provide an exciting and informative musical excursion to trace the movement of drums from Black culture in Africa to South America, the West Indies, the Caribbean and the United States - Friday, February 23, 1 and 2 p.m.

Students from the Paige Academy Chorus and Drum Ensemble will perform African and Caribbean drum rhythms (with explanations) and the chorus will sing "message music" - Tuesday, February 5, 3 to 4 p.m.

And, Playspace (the Museum's exhibit for children five and under) gets into the act with special activities every weekday morning at 11:00, including: African songs, hand-clapping games, paper towel tie-dyeing and story telling.

"Black History Month serves as a specific time to increase our awareness, knowledge and appreciation of the role of Black cultures in all our lives", explains Leonard Brown, Black History Month developer for the Museum. "Our themes for the month are the Black experience in Africa, the West Indies, South America and the United States."

CCCC TIP OF THE WEEK

YWCA Concerned Citizens Combating Crime advise:

With the start of a new year, it's a good time to update your household inventory. An inventory should include a list of all credit card numbers and numbers from all passbooks, stocks, bonds, securities, etc., as well as a list of all valuables and any serial numbers from them, detailed descriptions, and location of the item. This is particularly helpful in identifying items that may be stolen. While doing your inventory, it's a good time to use the Operation Identification engraver and invisible soft marker to further protect your valuables.
